TEACHERS' PAY SCHEDULE FIXED

Board of Education—Grade Principals Wanted Increase to Level of High School Instructors.

Outside of adopting the report of the teachers' committee in regard to salaries, little business was transacted at the meeting of the board of education Friday evening. A delegation of principals from the grammar schools were present and presented a claim to the board for an increase in salaries to at least equal the salaries paid the high school instructors. The grammar school teachers in presenting their claim stated that it was in the grammar schools that about three-fourths of the pupils received their instruction, which means that about one-fourth of the children attend high school after leaving grade schools. There was no action taken on this matter other than the adoption of the schedule for teachers' salaries as presented by the teachers' committee. The advisability of purchasing a power lawn mower was discussed by the board and the matter was referred to the building committee with power. The superintendent was authorized to make arrangements for commencement day exercises and the building committee was authorized to buy from time to time janitor's supplies in the open market as needed. Bills and payrolls were audited and the usual routine business transacted. The board went into executive session before discussing the question of salaries.

President Flemming gave out the following committees for the year: Finance—Virgil B. Van Wageningen, M. Schaeffer, J. M. Herbert. Building—E. W. Kearney, Walter Crane, V. B. Van Wageningen. Rules—W. N. Gill, J. M. Herbert, Wesley D. Hale. Supplies—Walter P. Crane, Wesley D. Hale, DuBois G. Atkins. Teachers—DuBois G. Atkins, Walter N. Gill, Harry H. Flemming.

The report of the teachers' committee on salaries follows:

In accordance with the revised schedule of salaries of superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers we recommend the employment of the following persons for the school year beginning August 1, 1921, and ending July 31, 1922 at the salary set opposite each name.

We further report that Roy H. Archer, a teacher of mathematics at the high school, has accepted a position as teacher of mathematics at the schools of Lowville, thereby leaving a vacancy in the high school corps.

At a former meeting of this board the report of the advisory board on the high school was read which recommended that provision be made for the employment of two teachers full time for part time school on the ground that we may reasonably expect at least 130 pupils in attendance on part time school for the next school year. Your committee, guided by the experience of other cities of the third class, believe that the estimate of the advisory board is correct. We therefore recommend that Robert J. Service be made director of part time classes on full time and Miss Grace Holmes the second teacher of part time classes, also on full time, at the salaries set opposite their names in the list below. This will create two vacancies in the manual training department at the high school. Under the education law two-thirds of the salaries of the first teacher in part time school will be paid by the state and federal governments and one-third by the city. One-half the salary of the second teacher will be paid by the state and federal governments and the other half by the city.

Miss Mollie Cullen has been absent from school on account of personal illness during the greater portion of the current school year. Because of her devoted service and high efficiency as a teacher in School No. 2, we recommend her continuation on our corps of teachers without pay until such time as her health will permit her to return to her duties.

VILLAGE JUSTICE MOVES SWIFTLY

As Bernard Handelman of New York City Found When Arraigned Before Judge McKenzie Friday Evening—Fined $50 For Reckless Driving.

Bernard Handelman of New York city decided to spend the holiday vacation in Ulster county with his family, and motored here in his touring car, but before he reached his destination he was arrested and fined $50 by Justice McKenzie of Port Ewen when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving after crashing into the car of Assemblyman S. B. Van Wageningen at Sleightsburgh.

From the stories as told Handelman was anxious not to wait on the Esopus side too long and was driving through Port Ewen at a rate of speed that far exceeded the speed limits. He passed car after car on the Sleightsburgh hill, and on his way down the hill ran into Mr. Van Wageningen's car. When Mr. Van Wageningen demanded his name he refused to give it.

Mr. Van Wageningen immediately got in touch with Judge McKenzie who called up the police department here, giving the car number, and Officer Reardon arrested Handelman at the ferry and escorted him to police headquarters where an officer from Esopus shortly appeared armed with a warrant and escorted Handelman before the Port Ewen bar of justice.

It is a misdemeanor under the state law not to immediately report an accident to the nearest police authorities, and Handelman pleaded guilty to neglecting to do so. He paid the fine. Assemblyman Van Wageningen was not anxious to press a felony charge against the tourist.

HARDER IRISH FIGHTING SOON

Britain Plans To Double Forces There And Aggressiveness of Sinn Fein Makes More Bloodshed Certain.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 28.—A British army stronger numerically and better trained and equipped than Kitchener's "first hundred thousand" in the great war will be in Ireland before the new week is far along, according to plans decided upon by the cabinet and believed to be in the process of execution today.

Partial publication of these plans, which call for a doubling of the present strength of the British army in Erin, which is 55,000, was the sensation of the day here and was expected to create an even bigger sensation throughout Ireland when it becomes known.

Coming on the heels of the Ulster election which, though it gave de Valera and other Sinn Fein chiefs seats in the Ulster parliament was generally interpreted as a Sinn Fein defeat, Premier Lloyd-George's decision to use the "militarized" force in Ireland more aggressively than ever before, is expected to mark a new epoch in the whole history of the Irish problem.

The fear was almost universal that it will be a new epoch of turbulence for the Irish Republicans, have just shown by their organized attacks on the Black and Tans in Dublin and other parts of Erin that they are determined to fight back with every ounce of counter-aggression they can muster.

Dispatches from Ireland were consequently awaited with eagerness today, and the general atmosphere even in official quarters was that fraught with grave foreboding.

Memorial Service at First Dutch.

Irving Berg will deliver the memorial address. Major Everett will speak for the G. A. R. and Thomas Coughlin for the American Legion. A central invitation is extended to attend.

New Garage Ready Place.

The De-Smith garage on Clinton avenue, head of Main street, is showing a gratifying increase in its business through opened only a short time. W. C. Wachtler has purchased a Lexington Thoroughbred car, Homer Robinson of Ellenville, a Willys-Knight, and Mrs. Deuch of Catskill a Peoria. Each evening shows an increase in the number of transient cars for storage at the big garage.

FIELD COURT WILL BE SITE OF CITY'S PROPOSED PUBLIC MARKET

At a Meeting Held Friday Afternoon the Board of Public Works Adopted a Resolution to That Effect—An Experiment That Will Cost City Nothing—Other Matters Taken Up.

At a meeting of the board of public works held at the city hall Friday afternoon the board unanimously adopted a resolution allowing the use of Field Court as a public market.

E. W. Hathaway, Robert J. Harder and E. L. Chase, representing the Market Growers' Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Bureau, were present at the meeting and a discussion of the various likely locations was had. It was brought out that the Market Growers' Association desired a paved street, and it was finally decided that Field Court would be the best location for the proposed market.

The resolution adopted by the board sets apart the westerly side of Field Court, beginning at the Fessenden property line and extending to the Harrison property line, subject to further order of the board.

The commissioners also endorsed the appointment of a board of control of the Market Growers' Association to have charge of the market.

This proposed public market is an experiment, and will not cost the city a cent.

The matter of a public market in Kingston has been discussed for some time past by Mayor Canfield and the Chamber of Commerce, and the action taken by the board of public works Friday is an outcome of that discussion.

Prohibiting parking on the southerly side of Main street from Clinton avenue to a point 80 feet west.

Big Eastern Bankers Tell Him Flotation of Huge Loans Here By Europe Is Wise But He Wants Views of Financiers of West and South Who Take Care of Agriculture.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 28.—Holding more than a third of the total gold supply of the world and steadily receiving more, the United States has become the world's treasure chest and practically every nation impoverished by the war is already negotiating or is about to begin negotiations for great loans in American financial markets.

France already is floating $200,000,000 and if this is successful other nations will follow in quick succession, according to opinions expressed today in treasury circles here.

It was knowledge of this condition, and a desire to safeguard the dominant position America has gained, that led President Harding to summon to Washington a group of the most powerful international bankers of the country and convey to them the gentle hint that the administration does not relish the idea of stripping American industry of easy credit in order to finance competition abroad.

President Harding was told by the international bankers that the quick road to American prosperity lay through re-financing Europe.

It can be stated authoritatively, however, that President Harding and his advisers have not accepted this theory in its entirety and the views of mid-western bankers will be sought before any administration loan agreement will be given the sanction of these great loans in American markets. The middle western bankers are a large extent finance the agriculture of the "heart of America" and are not so concerned with international loans as are the powerful eastern financiers.

The views of southern bankers who finance the cotton growers here also will be sought by the administration before it adopts anything approaching a "policy" toward international loans on a big scale. The loans for these further conferences between administration leaders and the mid-west and southern bankers have not been set, but they will be held, it was said today, in the near future.

Louis DuBois's Chest.

Miss Cora DuBois and Mrs. Lanet DuBois went to Kingston on Saturday to call on the Misses DuBois, daughters of the late Gilbert DuBois of Napanoch, and to take a look at the great chest in which Louis DuBois, the New Paltz Patentee, brought his goods across the Atlantic and which has come down in the DuBois family to the present day. It will be placed in the Memorial House. It is worthy of note that while Louis DuBois's chest, gun and tobacco box have come down in the family, none of the other New Paltz Patentees have left any relics which have come down to the present day, as far as we can call to mind, except their certificates of church membership in the churches of the Palatinate.—New Paltz Independent.

Hardy Chrysanthemums. In planning your flower garden do not fail to plant a few hardy chrysanthemums. Lovely new varieties may be had at slight expense from the florist and they are easy to grow in good garden soil and will blossom very late in the fall after all the other flowers are gone. In order to prevent the tall spindly growth so undesirable in this class of plants, one should pinch off the top of the plant as soon as it is about 6 inches high. It will then branch out and the tip of these branches should also be pinched off when a few inches long. After this the plant will grow bushy and have good strong stems and beautiful flowers.

Ideal-ARCOLA Hot Water Heating Outfits sold in sizes to fit small buildings at proportionately lower costs. For one or more stories, with or without cellars. Running water not necessary. Heating contractors now offering attractive prices.

Don't let your effort to "keep the price down" override your best judgment to have an Ideal-ARCOLA Hot Water Heating Outfit in your home. You build about once in a lifetime—but you buy fuel and need warmth and comfort every year. The ARCOLA pays for itself and cuts down the yearly fuel bill.

A No. 2-PA-200 Outfit (including Ideal-ARCOLA, 200 square feet of 30-inch AMERICAN Radiators in a radiator, Expansion Tank, and Drain Valve), costing the owner $156.00, is used to heat this house. Right Heating at Your Price

The reduced cost of Ideal-ARCOLA Heating Outfits has placed hot water heating within the reach of all. ARCOLA Outfits are made on the same principle and with the same guarantee as our larger IDEAL Heating Outfits for big houses. The only difference is in the smaller size and lower cost. If you are building, the cost of an Ideal-ARCOLA Heating Outfit may be saved by omitting extra chimney required by stoves; leaving out grates and mantels, useless doors, storm sash, etc.

Economy, Durability and Safety

Made in sizes for small buildings. Installed in a few days. Gives you comfort for a lifetime. The lowest yearly cost for fuel. Many owners tell us they heat ALL their rooms with an ARCOLA with less fuel than was formerly required to warm a few rooms in spots, with stoves. In these days of high-priced fuel this feature ought to be the deciding one. The ARCOLA uses coal, coke, wood, gas or oil. No more permanent or profitable investment can be made for your old or new home. Also used in stores, shops, schools, offices, flats, etc.

By Junius

A Prayer.

Lord, when I am hearing the end of Life's day
Let me look o'er the path I have trod
And know I played fair every inch of the way.
As I sit by the fireside and nod.
Let me, when years number three score and ten,
Hold no barren regrets for the past.
Let me feel that my name is respected by men,
And let them be friends to the last.
When the locks time has left me are scanty and gray,
And my teeth have long since ceased to maul,
Let me sit by the fire in a dignified way
And not try to act like a colt.

That Walking Stick.

(Attica, Ind., Tribune.)

A cane was found by one of our citizens and left at this office for identification and reclamation. It is not much of a cane, but still, viewing the stick from a psychological side glance, it must have done service to some citizen of Attica for many years. It is not a heavy, wiry club, such as a strong man would use. It is not a very long cane, therefore it must have belonged to a man with long arms, slightly stooped, with the habit of walking in deep meditation, with face cast downward. Therefore this walking stick must have belonged to a professional man—a doctor or a lawyer, perhaps. Judging from the color of the cane the owner must be dark complexioned, gray haired and eyes either gray or brown. At a closer look at this stick, the conclusion is reached that the former owner must have held some public office for quite a number of years, as it shows it had been shifted from the right to the left hand an incalculable number of times on occasions when the owner met up with fellow citizens with franchises to exercise. If the owner of this walking stick will call at this office, describing the property and pay for this notice at 5 cents a line we would be very glad to turn the cane over to him.

Sir—Has been a strike against the contrabands? I present myself as a strike-breaker. If you resist my demands, beware—a-are I recently overheard this conversation between two women:

First Woman—What have you seen at the theater lately that you liked?
Second—I liked the shaving scene from the "Barber of Seville."
First—Really? I cared more for the jungle scene in "Tiger, Tiger."

We lamped the following in the Mustang. Okla. Phoenix: "Last week an opera singer sang Salome, enclosed in twenty-eight beads and twenty-two of them were perspiration."

Mrs. Newlywed—That ham we got yesterday was no good.
Butcher—Impossible; why it was just cured.
Mrs. Newlywed—Well, it must have had a relapse.

Can You Answer These Questions?

2. How does a Hawaiian forest look?

3. Is the Rocky Mountain highborn a sheep or a goat?

Answers to Previous Questions.
1. What is meant by a cold-blooded creature?
Creatures are said to be cold-blooded when the temperature of their bodies, regulated by the temperature of their blood, rises and falls according to the atmosphere or medium in which they live. Reptiles, fishes, toads, frogs, salamanders, etc., are cold-blooded. It is not accurate to say a snake is always "cold and slithering" since the snake will be as warm as the surrounding air.

2. How did the Arthur Day idea start?
The first idea seems to have been in the village of Brant, where the citizens celebrated an attempt to establish a cultivated grove (the planting, according to a tradition, was to every one who helped plant). The seedlings had another attempt by transplanting seedlings from the forest. This planting prospered and the birthday was celebrated yearly with festivity.

3. How does nature plan so that birds are not chilled by moulting?
With most birds, the wing is very important, as it is the chief means of escape from danger, and nature sees to it that the bird shall not be chilled even at moulting time by losing too many feathers at a time from the

Why They Sailed.

I had been to a dance the night before and as my feet hurt me the next day I took off my shoes and kept my feet under my desk. I had just started typewriting and was deeply engrossed in the letter that I was transcribing when my boss called me into his office where he and six other men were holding a conference. I quickly jumped from my chair and walked into his office, forgetting my shoes. I noticed that the men were trying hard not to laugh and I finally woke up to the fact that I did not have my shoes on—Chicago American.

RHINE YANKS HARD WORKERS

American Soldiers' Lives Are Far From Easy.

DRILL 8 HOURS EVERY DAY

Little Fighting Force of 10,000 Men Has to Be Kept Hard, Trained and Ready for Quick Action—Drill, Target Practice, Study or Maneuvers Make Up the Day's Work—Visitor to Camp Would Find the American Boys Preparing for War.

If Americans at home imagine the life of the soldiers composing the American army of occupation on the Rhine is one of idleness they will be a long way from the truth.

The little fighting force of 10,000 men has to be kept hard, trained and ready for quick action, and that means work—eight hours of it a day at drill, study, target practice or maneuvers, for it is the purpose of the general staff here to maintain union hours.

Most of the American doughboys' eight-hour day is spent in drill which occupies from three to five hours daily, varying according to the circumstances and needs of the different units.

Open Training Begins. A visitor to this American community transplanted into the center of Europe would find the American boys just now preparing for a summer of ghuu war maneuvers, for the open training season has just commenced and will continue until October 31.

The regular target season, which is now in full swing, will last until July 31. It is being held on the ranges built by the Germans a few miles east of the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. It includes known distance practice, combat firing and company proficiency tests.

Problems, terrain exercises and maneuvers, including night operations and combats in woods for units up to and including a company, are also part of the day's work.

Field work for the battalion will commence as soon as battalions have completed all firing.

Maneuvers Realistic.

The second period, from August 1 to September 15, will include battalion, regimental and brigade maneuvers and terrain exercises. During this period, one week for each brigade will be reserved for battalion combat problems with live ammunition and in conjunction with auxiliary arms. As General Allen puts it: "We do everything that is done in war except kill men."

The third period, from September 1 to September 30, will be taken by maneuvers of the full army of occupation and the result expected at the close of the period is thorough preparation for war of the American forces in Germany.

During the fourth period from October 1 to 31, brigade and separate unit commanders will correct deficiencies noted during the previous field training.

ANIMALS DO NOT LIKE JAZZ

Wild Ones Get Wilder, Laboratory Experiment Determines.

Humans may like jazz, but animals don't.

This was the conclusion reached by a group of scientists who recently assembled in the Central Park zoo in New York to see what a saxophone and traps would do to the emotions of monkeys, lions, leopards, elephants and other jungle beasts.

A quartet of musicians guaranteed to rag anything from Wagner down was massed in front of the monkey cages for the first laboratory test to determine whether the line "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast" was after all, only poetic license.

According to a corps of unscientific reporters who journeyed to the zoo with scientists from Columbia university, American Museum of Natural History and New York Zoological park, the monkeys registered emotion all right—but of a rather savage kind.

Then the latest jazz was banged into the ears of lions and their mates. All hopped to their feet, with fur bristling.

STORE CAT CALLS

Mysterious Occurrence at Battle Creek Baffles Police for Time.

A lone patrolman one night saw something more within Kottel's meat market at Battle Creek, Mich., and notified Chief Day, who came in person with another officer.

From the shadows they saw the same thing the patrolman had, so they telephoned for more officers, and sent a police car for the proprietor.

Meanwhile officers in the back alley found a grip containing a butcher's tools. After due precautions the door was unlocked and the lights flashed on, above upon the stove sat and up off from the cash register, stretched and smiled an other leg.

In the morning the proprietor who found his tools came back to pick up his kit in the alley.

MEMORIAL DAY

I have a lover in the fields of France,
Where larks still sing and scarlet poppies wave.
There let him lie—I ask not his return
That my poor grief may tend a lonely grave.

There let him lie, among his comrades all,
In the world's common sepulchre and shrine;
The trysting-place of every nation's heart;
And let the common sorrow hallow mine.

But let me plant beside his resting-place,
Where fleur-de-lis and scarlet poppies nod,
A bit of beauty from his native land—
The yellow glory of our golden-rod.

There Belgium's bloom and Italy's fragrance blend;
There shamrock buds and purple heather grows;
There the fair lilies of the fields of France
Grow side by side with England's beautiful rose.

There, with the whispering maples and the pines,
With cypress black and fragrant laurel bloom,
The evening winds with gentle rapture blend
The breath of wattle and the southern broom.

O ask me not to take my love away—
We should be lonely for the fields of France.

France Holds American Graves Sacred

This is the slow chisel of time can carve the truth of history. That which we debate hotly and surround with words and eagerness and doubts and disappointments fades and is forgotten. Some simple fact, seldom upon our tongues and too obvious to be discussed, is left standing against the horizon.

The beginning of some such revaluation made itself felt on Memorial day last year. In the commemoration of the day here and abroad there was a silent power that all who participated could not but feel. Tears were nearer the surface than any one suspected, memories more poignant. The very thought of our dead lying in the soil of France their graves covered with flowers by the hands of French women and French children, the hugles of their French comrades blowing over them, stirred the depths of reverence and loyalty.

A scene in France, in one of the largest cemeteries in which American soldiers are buried, is thus beautifully described:

Scene Most Picturesque. Beyond the wall masses of purple lilacs spread against the red roof of the houses. In the distance a few lacy white flowers of lilac, hung about the old colonial spire. Bird calls and scent of flowers filled the air. At our feet low mounds and white crosses. Above our heads at half past, the Stars and Stripes.

Monsieur Gounelle, in black cassock, spoke in French and explained to his people the meaning of Memorial day, the felt, instinctively, their sympathy and love.

Then we laid on every grave a spray of flowers and breathed a prayer for the absent ones. Each girl felt personally responsible for each mound in the row she decorated. How clear the names on these crosses stood out even though a year had passed.

The French officers laid a wreath at the foot of the flag pole and one of them spoke with tenderness of the heroes who had gone on. Already there hung upon the pole heavily wreathed from the 15th de Chateaufort, from the French soldiers' association and other local organizations.

The chaplain from the 1st of Missouri addressed us, and then three soldiers sang out upon the air, the musicians playing their way over the white crosses and the flag.

Typifies Heroic Dead

Perhaps the highest legend of Memorial day, either in this country or abroad, was struck at Sarrebourg, the high hill under the guns of St. Valentin, overlooking the city of Paris, in which President Wilson sent his Memorial day to pay his homage to the several thousand American dead buried there. The first American monument abroad authorized by the War Department was set up at Sarrebourg, France, last year, and unveiled as a part of the Memorial day observance.

The statue, then a plaster cast of heroic man, in the eyes and conception of the "special American infirmities" by the President the year can well be given by Mrs. Willard in Sarrebourg for Memorial day at Sarrebourg.

Our photograph was taken during the Memorial day exercises arranged by French and American last year.

the white crosses and allencing for a moment the song of the birds. A young marine faced the flag, saluted, and placed a hugle to his lips. Upon the warm clear air of that May day there floated down the sweet and plaintive notes of "Taps." And—it was finished.

Girls Scatter Violets. But wait! Who are these? Out of the watching throng came young French girls to scatter violets upon our graves. And they told us, oh mothers of America, that they would take our place next year, and in all the years to come. There will be flowers upon these graves this year.

Gradually the cemetery became deserted except for a few who lingered. A group of marines stood about the grave of a comrade very dear. Its marker was of stone and bore these words: "A true soldier beloved of his comrades." At one side a lad stood weeping and told us that his brother fell beyond the German lines.

Madame Gounelle, Georges and his mother came and talked with us. Love and sympathy shone in their faces as they told us of the honor that was theirs in caring for these graves. I thought of Georges' letter and his offer of the friendship of "a little Frenchman." Deep in our hearts there will live forever a memory of this "little Frenchman."

It was just the loving kindness of a kindly people and was thus no matter where we went. Pilgrimages to the cemeteries at Sarrebourg, Chalons, Fismes, Chateaufort only served to deepen our gratitude to them.

Oh, Mothers of America, you need not fear. Again the mother hearts in France will leap the wide expanse of sea and utter a prayer for you as they drop their flowers upon our graves this year.

And above those glorious crosses, wherever they may be, ever floats Old Glory, as she whispers to the breeze: I called them and they followed. I guard them in their sleep.

STROVE FOR HUMAN LIBERTY

Armies Under the Stars and Stripes Had Always the Noblest Aim: Man May Know.

For two decades the recurrent observance of Memorial day has been the grateful text for comment upon the dwindling line of "The Boys in Blue." The World war has given an added significance to the exercises of the day, which in all the years to come will be dedicated also to "The Boys in Khaki," the young men of this generation who so nobly carried on the noble record established by the men of the early battles. And in becoming men will be remembered for the veterans of the war in Spain in Cuba and the Philippines.

It is a proud tradition that in all of these wars the soldiers fought for human liberty, neither greed of territory or lust of power, but, in the universal words of Lincoln, that government of the people should not perish. And the outcome in each has justified the faith that "conquer we must when we can. It is just. A pang is that takes up the sword only in each circumstance and with such spirit dwells in the solemn ceremonies of Memorial day a contribution of patriotism, an offering of faith that can never be quarantined.

HAVE EASY DIVORCE CODE

No Need for Saneons to Take Trip to Native Race to Have the Knot Untied.

Divorce cases, which came up often in Tutuila, especially put to the test any powers of reconciling old and new; for, though desertion for one year is sufficient reason for divorce under the Samoan code, actual divorce without legal divorce is a custom of the country. Samoan men again and again sent their legal wives home and took younger women into their huts. Under such conditions the man and his new mate were brought into court. Occasionally the court persuaded the man to send for his old wife, and the girl in the case returned to her family. She was usually well married to some one else, and suffered no disgrace. (Editor, perhaps, the same couple refused to be separated, paid their fine, went back to their old ways and were summoned again and paid another fine.)

I remember a case that amusingly illustrates the importance of the economic factor when divorce is the issue. The man was a strapping chief with skin like a polished lava rock—a handsome fellow, distinguished in the islands for one of his special treasures, an American house which he had built and well furnished. He did not sleep in it or use it in any way, but he cherished it as a sign of nobility, very useful to him in impressing both his neighbors and visitors to ETO. His wife had deserted him, he complained, and he would like his divorce before another week was out. From this I gathered that he had "run his wife home," after the custom of a native with his eye on a younger spouse. "Left you," said he. "She has left you after many years? This is a sad, but if it is the case, then this is divorce in its order. However, since I recall that it was your wife's father's name of money and cattle and fine goods that made it possible for you to own the American house, these things will the law give your wife on the day she is on her way home." The chief chief became indignant. He thought of the young girl with black hair flowing in her hair and he had chosen to share his

LAST SAVINGS MEETING BIGGEST

John D. Schoonmaker, president of the Kingston Shipbuilding Corporation and of Schoonmaker & Connors, Inc., set the example for his employees by becoming the first member of the Savings Association organized on the Island Dock Friday noon by the Representative Mosser and Postmaster DeWitt. Mr. Schoonmaker invested $326 (the limit anyone can invest in these treasury certificates), and purchased through the Savings Association a $1,000 treasury certificate maturing for that amount January 1, 1926. Mr. Mills, of the Shipbuilding Corporation, took three $100 certificates. The plant committee on savings was delighted with this start, the biggest along the river, and began to receive the signed cards of the employees rapidly. The meeting was attended by 250 employees and was addressed by Messrs. DeWitt and Mosser. The treasury representative was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his remarks explaining the new plan of government savings associations. The committee representing the treasury department of the United States at the Kingston Shipbuilding plant and Schoonmaker & Connors consists of LeRoy Cashin, chairman; J. J. Dempsey, vice chairman; W. P. Snyder, Superintendent; J. A. Lennon and Kenneth Wood. This was the last meeting arranged by the county committee of the government loan organization for this section of the most successful of all. Treasury Representative Mosser left town wonderfully impressed with Kingston's industries, prosperity as compared with many other places not so well off, the noticeably few out of work and the universal desire to save a portion of one's earnings.

Friday morning an association was formed at the Bostonian Waist plant on Hasbrouck avenue. Manager Nathan Wiedes welcomed the speakers and the following committee was formed to represent the treasury and explain each month the desirability of this method of saving: Mrs. Mabel Wiedes, chairman; Miss Ruby Apple, vice chairman; Mr. Wiedes, committeeman, with several of the girl employees to be named later. There is wonderful spirit of cooperation between the manager and employees here which will be strengthened through the savings plan.

LAST PARADE OF CO. D MONDAY

An unusual feature of the Memorial Day parade this year will be the participation of Company "D," 45th Regiment, Corps of Cadets, State of New York, otherwise known as the "First Technical Company." This unit of boys is the only company in the state that ever purchased their own uniforms and while the work of the Military Training Commission comes to an end on July 1 of this year in accordance with the recommendations of Governor Miller, the interest of this company has continued as keen as ever in spite of their approaching mustering out. The Memorial Day parade will mark their last public appearance as the company will be mustered out with appropriate ceremonies at the conclusion of the parade. The strong praise won by this unit from General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief supervising officer of the military training commission, when he officially inspected the company about six weeks ago is sufficient guarantee that their final public appearance will be in keeping with the high standard of military excellence that has made them a reputation as one of the best units ever organized in the whole state.

The "First Technical Company" will assemble at the local state armory at 8 a. m. sharp on Memorial Day fully uniformed and ready to take part in the parade. Immediately following the parade pictures of the company will be taken which will be highly valued by the members as souvenirs of the company.

"NEW ATTACK OF GREAT DISEASE IS REPORTED"

It has been reported that over 5,000 persons have been attacked with this great destroyer. It is the disease a Man or Woman gets when they get it into their head they want to go fishing. Then nothing can stop them. They put on the old duds, start to dig for tackle and don't find any. Then the race starts. They hit up the trail to Warren's Sporting Goods Store and there they find in abundance anything that is made that is good for fishing. Why don't you try the same.

CHINESE RELIEF GOOD BUSINESS

The Rev. Frank Eckerson, a missionary to China who is on leave in America, spent a few hours Friday afternoon calling on friends in this city and was the guest at dinner of the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley. Mr.
Eckerson began his business life as a reporter on a newspaper in Nyack and is "a regular feller." He is working, while on leave, in the interest of the China Famine Relief Fund, which he regards as good business for the United States as well as a humanitarian proposition to which the principles of practical Christianity should be applied. The China Relief Fund is not receiving the attention given to some other relief projects, possibly because it is not spending large sums on a paid force of organizers and boosters, but is none the less practical, necessary and deserving. Mr. Eckerson says that if sufficient money can be raised to tide the people in the famine districts over until August, thousands of lives will be saved and Chinese appreciation of American aid will be tremendously increased.

WESTON, 82, HALE AND HEARTY

Edward Payson Weston, World Famous Pedestrian, Now in 82d Year,
Was in Kingston Friday Shopping—Still Walks For Exercise.

Edward Payson Weston, the world famous pedestrian, was in Kingston Friday afternoon shopping, and while here called to see his old friend, Bassett, the real estate man on the Strand. Mr. Weston celebrated his eighty-second birthday on March 15 of this year, and is still hale and heartly, and thinks nothing of walking twelve miles for exercise.
He is now living on a farm at Platacar about six miles from Rosendale, and several times a week he walks to Rosendale and back again, a distance of twelve miles, for exercise. Daily he walks three miles for his mail, and says he enjoys reading the Freeman which has read ever since he became a resident of Westchester county.

Mr. Weston's most famous performance was walking from ocean to ocean across the United States, a distance of 4,500 miles, in seventy-six days and twenty-three hours, beating his allotted time of ninety days by thirteen days and one hour.

Probably his last famous walk was from New York to Minneapolis, a distance of 1,500 miles, which he covered in sixty days. He was then in his seventy-fifth year. Among his other famous walks was 5,000 miles in 100 days in England in 1884.

Mr. Weston said yesterday that he still felt capable of doing some long walks, and that his health was markedly good. In fact his last serious illness was in 1871 when he had an attack of typhoid fever.

LEAHY'S BODY AT HOBOKEN

And Will Be Brought To This City
Next Week—Sawkill Boy Died
From Machine Gun Bullet Wound
Through Body.

Undertaker James M. Murphy received word this morning of the arrival of the body of Sergeant Bernard Leahy of Sawkill at Hoboken. The body will be brought to this city some time next week.

Sergeant Leahy was wounded on a patrol on the night of September 12, 1918, at Mervel, a little town just north of Pismo and south of the Alamo. The patrol, composed of three lieutenants, Sergeant Leahy and several others, had gone out to locate and establish an observation post.

They ran into either a German patrol or an outpost, and Sergeant Leahy received a machine gun bullet through the stomach. He succeeded in getting to a first aid station at once. He was sent back to a hospital that night, but died in the ambulance before he reached the hospital.

Sergeant Leahy was a member of Company M, 307th Infantry. He was a son of the late Bernard and Ann Leahy, and is survived by four brothers, Edward, Joseph and Raymond of Brooklyn, and James of Sawkill, and one sister, Mrs. Thomas Callahan of Sawkill. The funeral arrangements will be announced as soon as it is known when the body will reach Kingston.

NEW YORK FIRES OVERCOME MANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 28.—One aged woman dead and 28 persons overcome or injured was the toll of fires early today in New York and Brooklyn. The dead woman, Mrs.
Anna Farrell, 80, of Brooklyn, was found suffocated in the kitchen of her home by rescuers.

The life net was called into use at another Brooklyn fire to rescue three children trapped by the flames. Edward Schone, 3 years old, who was tossed from an upper window, by his sister Florence, 16, missed the net and was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.
Florence and another brother, Fred, aged 5, landed safely in the net.

Meanwhile firemen rescued six other members of the family, all of whom were taken to the hospital.
Sixteen firemen were overcome by gas and smoke at a cellar blaze at No. 242 Avenue "A," Manhattan, when the flames melted the gas pipes. Seven were taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Lady Poynter, wife of Sir Ambrose Poynter, noted British architect who recently entered the business field as a house decorator, according to reports from London.
Lady Poynter declared that her scheme is not the whims of a society woman, but a solid business proposition. She has established her place in Beauchamp place, London, and will work under the name "Toucan."
She explained that she had studied the business for the past two years.
